St. Petersburg, March 16.—The Novoe Vremya publishes an editorial in which it is claimed that the czar's manifesto proclaiming religious liberty is so worded as not to apply to the Jews in the least and they will find their lost as hard as ever. The Warsaw Haderah also publishes an editorial to this effect. Both papers take the stand that considerable latitude is allowed to all other peoples under the proclamation, but that the anti-Semitic feeling is still very strong in Russia and there seems to be little hope of a change of feeling toward either on the part of the czar or anyone else connected with the government.

Congress adopted the plan.

SECOND VETO BY
GOV. LA FOLLETTE

Criticises Phraseology of Measure As To The Importation of Horses.

Madison, Wis., March 17.—Governor La Follette sent his third veto to the legislature this evening, expressing his disapproval of the bill regulating the importation of western range horses. His objection was not to the purpose of the bill but the manner in which it was drawn. The phraseology, the governor says, is bad, and the whole language of the bill indefinite. It is doubtful whether power can be given a local officer to kill horses, as provided in the bill, and it is questionable whether the attempted regulation of transportation of horses can be enforced in the manner provided. The governor expressed the opinion that the bill, if passed, would be inefficient, and he recommends that an efficient bill be enacted into law.

Local physicians who examined the child say they know of no such case in the records of medicine. This was the fifteenth child born to Mr. and Mrs. Lipscomb, and all the others were perfect.

ST. PATRICK OF HISTORIC FAME

PATRON SAINT OF SONS OF THE EMERALD ISLE.

MANY STORIES TOLD OF HIM

His Memory Is Ever Dear to the Hearts of All Irishmen.

All over the civilized world today, wherever a son of the "ayldsood" has planted his foot the green will be worn. Today is St. Patrick's day, and every true son of Erin will do all honor to his patron saint. England may have its St. George and Scotland its St. Andrew, but to Ireland, and through Ireland the whole world today celebrates St. Patrick's day. Though a down-trodden and oppressed people on their own soil, the Irishman has never let his faith in his patron saint waver and today in the meanest hut on the Emerald Isle the hardy peasant is celebrating in his small way.

It has been said of the Irishman that he lands in America without a cent and builds a home for his Lord before he builds one for himself. This is true and while the day is more strictly speaking a church day, there is many a Protestant who has worn the little badge of green all this day to show that he still loves the home of his forefathers.

St. Patrick's birth and his early bringing up have been the subject of much dispute and endless debate on the part of historians and church writers. By some it is claimed that he was born in Scotland; the famous hymn of "Flaac" expressly says he was born in "Nemthur," now Dumbarton, on the Clyde, and many half-splitting disquisitions have been advanced to prove "Taberniae" and Nemthur are the same place. It is clear, however, that St. Patrick was not a Scotchman. There never was but one Scotch saint, and even he was not a Scotchman. It seems that God either would not or could not, make a saint out of a Scotchman, while on the other hand, He made all the Irish all saints. Ireland is known in church theology as the "Island of Saints."

It is claimed by others that he was a Roman student who had a call to go to Ireland and teach the Irish and that he accepted the call and came. Others hold that he did not belong to the Church of Rome at all but was part of the Greek church and try to prove this statement by asserting that missionaries from Rome had been driven out of Ireland previous to St. Patrick's coming and it is not probable that they would so soon have received another from the same source.

Which ever is right it is a truth today that the followers of St. Patrick are true to the Church of Rome and no matter what part of the globe they go to their first thought is their church and the next their home.

In Ireland St. Patrick's day is the day of days religiously and nationally. Always occurring in Lent, it is the only day during that period on which marriages of Catholics can be canonically solemnized. If the day falls on Friday, meat is always eaten, not by church dispensation, but by the custom of one of St. Patrick's own miracles. The good saint was going to preach in a distant district on Friday, and entering a house on his way, asked for dinner. There was no fish and the good woman of the house felt deeply chagrined. Noticing pieces of tempting bacon hung around, St. Patrick requested the cook to bring a tub of water, and launching a piece of the bacon into the water with his own hand, behold a fine fish swam around, which the housewife, much relieved, prepared for dinner. It is said this miracle is still practised in some parts of Ireland, the bacon being called "St. Patrick's fish" and the faithful always bear testimony that it "tastes just like fish."

Miracle of the Snakes

One miracle attributed to St. Patrick, however, was inspired less by supernatural than human design. A spirit of rivalry existed in those days between the Celts of Scotland and Ireland, of which the two patron saints partook, and many a time St. Patrick repaired to the northern coast to do some act of his saintly power against Scotland, but the alert St. Andrew was always on the watch on the Scottish shore and frustrated the intention of St. Patrick. His opportunity came, however, on one Sunday morning while St. Andrew was going up from Sterling to Aberdeen to dedicate a church. Taking advantage of this, the wily Irish saint gathered all the snakes in Ireland on the shore of Antrim and drove them across the narrow Irish sea into St. Andrew's land, and St. Andrew and all his Scotch brothers have not been able to this day to unload them. St. Patrick though not a polished scholar, was famous as a logician and disputant. His most famous effort in this line was when the pagan king asked him to expound the mystery of the trinity. He instantly plucked the trefoil at his feet and held it up to the confused gaze of the monarch. Thus the shamrock became the emblem of Ireland.

AUDIENCE ENJOY STARTLING SCENE

"Heart of Chicago" Is Filled with Many Melodramatic Features.

Thrills galore were offered the patrons of the Myers Grand last evening. Judging from the demonstration on the part of the audience, especially the spectators in the upper sections of the house, thrills met with popular favor. The bill was the old standard Lincoln J. Carter thriller, "The Heart of Chicago."

Considering the frowning countenance of the chief of the weather department, the attendance, especially in the higher altitudes, testified to the good name which the melodrama has won for itself in past years. And it was heartily received last night.

No feature of the performance, which was loaded down with features, excelled in popular favor the draw-bridge scene where a life size locomotive, spitting fire and snorting clouds of smoke which filled the house for the rest of the evening, emerged from the painted landscape and came to a halt just in time to escape crashing down upon the orchestra. The locomotive received a couple of curtain calls.

Of the actors E. J. Dallan as McFadden, T. A. Moross as Robert Sage and Coralya Maxwell as Eugenie were warmly received. Florence Willis as Maggie won an encore or two for her singing, Johnny Phillips, her "steady," meeting with equal favor. C. A. Sellen as Hoke was solid with the "gods."

LITTLE GIRL HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Elsie Notz, of Magnolia Caught Her Dress, While Playing Near a Bonfire.

Quite a little excitement was caused for a few minutes at the Magnolia school Friday last when little Elsie Notz's dress caught fire from burning grass. The teacher had allowed the boys to burn the grass in the school yard, and although he had cautioned the little folks to keep away from the fire, when recess came the children were nearly all out at play, and in some way while the child was at play her dress caught fire. One of the boys threw his coat around the upper part of her body, while several of the girls tried to put out the fire, but with little success until another boy came with a pail of water and poured it on the child. This put the fire out, and the girl was taken home.

She was not badly burned but her dress and apron were nearly all burned up; and her hair was scorched some.

COMMON COUNCIL'S REGULAR MEETING

BOTH INTERURBAN FRANCHISES ARE LEFT TO COMMITTEES.

REGULAR BUSINESS DONE

Bills Were Presented, Grades Discussed, and Miscellaneous Matters Looked After.

The common council at its meeting last night left the companies applying for interurban franchises on an equality. The application of the Janesville Traction company was given its first and second reading and the committee asked for more time to consider the application of the Southern Wisconsin Interurban Railway company.

Mayor Richardson presided and all the aldermen were present and listened to the reading of the minutes of the three previous meetings, which were adopted.

Annual Report

The annual report of the city treasurer for the year ending March 1, was received and ordered published as was the report of the board of education for the month of February. A batch of bills for the last two weeks were presented and referred to the finance committee.

The Franchise

The application of the Janesville Traction company was presented and referred to the highway committee who later recommended that it be given its first and second reading. Alderman Rice then stated that the committee had been considering the franchise question and would ask for further time on the application of the Southern Wisconsin Interurban Railway company. He stated that the highway committee would hold a meeting and notify the promoters of both roads of the time and place so they could be present and present their claims. The council concurred with Mr. Rice and no further action will be taken in the matter until the next meeting of the council.

Use of Streets

An application from Florence Camp M. W. A. for use of the streets on the day of the Woodmen's picnic and for the right to sell privileges during the day was permitted. The application was granted, the supervision being left in the hands of the chief of police.

The Grade

The grade of Milwaukee avenue was presented and referred to the highway committee and later approved by them and placed on file. The clerk was instructed to draw orders on the transfer for the batch of bills presented at the meeting two weeks ago and referred to the finance committee.

Coming Election

The judiciary committee reported that the notices for the coming election were in due form and that the annual municipal election be held on the first Tuesday in April. The fire and water committee presented the semi-annual pay roll of the call men of the fire department, and the clerk was instructed to draw orders on the treasurer for the same.

City Lighting

The chairman of the lighting committee reported that they had gone over the account of the Janesville Electric company and had deducted $2.04 from it for lights not burning in February. The mayor and members of the council seemed surprised at so heavy a reduction being made, but adopted the report.

Sewerage

The sewerage committee stated that Edward Rager had agreed to act as consulting engineer on the sewerage plans for $10 a day and fractions of a day at the same rate. The chairman of the committee stated that Mr. Rager usually received $15 a day, but on account of it being his home city he had cut his price to $10. The action of the committee was confirmed by the council.

W. viaduct.

Use of Street

John Thoroughgood was given permission to use a portion of Prospect avenue for storing building material during the erection of a building and E. B. Evans was granted the same privilege on Terrace street. David Brown was granted the right to move a building from Park street to Union street.

Cross Walks

Aldermen Rice and Lowell introduced orders for brick crosswalks at numerous points in the First ward. Ald. Lowell also asked that the street commissioner clean up all macadamized streets in the First ward except High street, and that the highway committee be instructed to purchase three carloads of paving brick.

That Extension

Ald. Rice called on the fire and water committee to know why the water main extension on Highland avenue, ordered some months ago, had not been made. He could see no use of ordering these extensions if the water company was allowed to ignore them.

On motion of Ald. Hemming the mayor appointed Aldermen Hemming, Hutchinson and Judd to look after the voting booths for the spring election.

CHOKING CATARRH CURED

Mr. Caswell Says "Hymel Cured Him". Your Money Back if it Does Not Cure You.

"Use Hymel and be cured of catarrh," is what all who have tried it for that disease say to their friends.

O. S. Caswell, of North Middleboro Mass., writes "Hymel has relieved me from a choking catarrhal trouble and cleared my head. I am glad to recommend it to my friends."

It is the easiest thing in the world to stop catarrh or a catarrhal cold at its beginning if you use Hymel. Just breathe the health-giving balsamic air for a few minutes and your catarrh will be cured. In the worst cases of this disease, chronic or acute Hymel used four or five times a day is all that is needed to soon effect a cure.

In this city and neighboring towns, there are today hundreds who can testify to the remarkable powers of Hymel to cure catarrh. Many of the staunchest friends of this remedy today began its use with little hope that they would be cured, but as the Peoples Drug Co. offered to refund the money if it did not cure, they decided to try it on that plan, and were soon restored to health.

The fact that in this city the Peoples Drug Co. have refunded the money for only two outfits out of the hundreds they have sold is the strongest proof that can be offered as to the truth of the statement that Hymel cures catarrh and all troubles of the throat and lungs.

All on Fire.

A Janesville Citizen Tells How Relief Came.

Ever have Eczema? Have any itching skind diseases? Itching almost drives you crazy? You feel "all on fire?" Doan's Ointment brings quick relief; Cures Eczema, Itching Piles and all Itchiness of the skin.

Mr. L. Lawrence of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Co., says: "I tried about everything recommended for Itchiness of the skin but found nothing to give me relief until I struck Doan's Ointment at the People's Drug Store. I had an affection of the skin. My face itched and annoyed me, and rubbing it only made it worse and made it sore. I could hardly stand shaving for the skin broke and bled. A few applications of Doan's Ointment removed the Itchiness and healed up my face in a few days. I would not be without the remedy in my house and I certainly recommend it to others in need of such a preparation."

ROUGH PLAYING STOPS THE GAME

HIGH SCHOOL AND Y. M. C. A.
BASKET BALL CONTEST.

FOULING WAS FREQUENT

High School Was Ahead When Referee Called Game for Rough Playing.

Rough play on the part of the contesting teams brought the basketball match at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to an abrupt end last evening. In the contest between the second teams the high school men were easy winners by a score of twelve to three. In the first half of the game between the first teams the playing was fast and interesting. In the second half it was a la football from the start, and when a couple of the players indulged in a personal set to the game was officially declared terminated. At that end the score stood eighteen to sixteen in favor of the high school.

Both Teams Handicapped
Hard luck had played havoc with the ranks of both teams. The men who were playing in their own gym were suffering from the loss of a center who was in bed with the mumps, another player out of town, and a third on the grip sick list. The visitors were deprived of the services of Kent, who has played with them throughout the season. He has also played with the Y. M. C. A., and the high school men granted him to their opponents.

Played Too Roughly
From the beginning of the second half both teams indulged in more rough work than was called for. At first it was not so flagrant that the officials could interfere, but when one man deliberately fouled another, committing the breach of rules so openly that it could not be overlooked, and his opponent retorted in kind, the referee declared the game ended.

A Layman's Lenten Sermon.

Eighteenth day of Lent. St. Mark V. 20v.—And He departed and began to publish in Dedapolis how great things Jesus had done for him and all men did marvel.

This is taken from the account of the man who possessed with devils did seek to destroy himself and whom no man could tame. Yet Jesus came and by his simple word cast out the devils and caused them to enter into a herd of swine and finally to perish in the depths of the sea. The man he told to go and preach the word and tell his friends what great things had been done for him.

Thus did Jesus attempt to show these unbelievers that he was of reality the Son of God. He cast out devils and healed the sick and caused the lame to walk as whole men. His wonderful power he showed to the world that they might believe and turn from their ways of wickedness and be saved. Many did. Many left off the unbelief and turned to him and followed, spreading his word throughout the world. His disciples live today in spirit. We have but to pause in our daily life and we can see the wonderful gifts and affairs that God has made apparent to us, has given to us the same as Christ did, to show his great power. We have but to look at the changing seas on this spring time to see the works of nature and the budding promise of warmer weather. God makes these things come about. He gives to us the sun and the rain, and while many cannot see the great benefits to be derived from floods or storms they are demonstrations of His powers which He shows lest we forget His matters as did the people of Sodom and Gomorra and be entirely destroyed.

God in all His seeing wisdom sent His only beloved son upon this earth to teach his dearly beloved children He sent Him to lead them to a better and purer life. He gave Him powers He had withheld to men that he might show to the believers His great powers.

"The Tempest."

Not every community is blessed with a theatrical manager who is as well up to the literary reputations of his attractions as he might be. Mr. Augustus E. McCune, advance representative of the Louis James and Frederick Ward combination laughingly tells of the manager of the opera house in a Texas town where Louis James and Madame Modjeska were to appear last season.

Mr. McCune was two days ahead of his company and meant to remain the two days in this particular town as he figured some extra billing would help matters along. He had just arrived and went first to his hotel, then to the theatre but no manager at either place could he find. In making the rounds of the town in looking for the local manager, Mr. McCune noticed that a show was billed for each night. At last he dropped into one of the many cafes and noticed a sporty looking individual talking to the bartender. From his conversation, McCune feared he was the local manager but refrained from getting into the conversation until the manager blandly informed the drink dispenser how much business he expected to do on the week. Unable to contain himself any longer, McCune gently tapped the manager on the back and said: "Excuse me, but are you the manager of the theatre?" "Sure," replied the sporty looking individual, "if its tickets you're wanting, I'll be back in an hour or so." Mr. McCune informed him that he was not in want of tickets but only wished to learn what attractions were to play during the week. Well, said the manager (this was Tuesday and the Modjeska-James company was due on Thursday), last night I had "Uncle Hec;" tonight we have "Side Tracked;" tomorrow we have "Two Merry Tramps," but on Thursday we have the big show "Jesse James." Mr. McCune was dumfounded but bracing up calmly asked what was "Jesse" going to play. The manager then informed him that he couldn't pronounce the name of the play, but it was something like "Jeskie," of course meaning Madame Modjeska. After this display of colossal ignorance on the part of the manager, Mr. McCune asked what time the next train would leave and telegraphed the home office and that town was forever stricken from the route. This season he might think James and Ward were a song and dance team, so it's best not to attempt Shakespeare in that town.

cago, whence he has gone to New York.

There is little hope of immediate success with the German secessionists of New York, but Mr. Karpf is planning to wage his attack on Gotham without mercy, and he believes that the future is bright and that the bowlers of the entire United States can again be united under one organization.

The amazing scores which have come from certain sources of late indicate more than that bowling is approaching perfection. They indicate that what is possible on one alley cannot be done on another, and that a 180 average among bowlers in Oshkosh may be equal to a 190 average in La Crosse. In fact the one average on a certain alley may be in actuality better than the same average on an alley across the street.

Raises Marriageable Age.

The Russian government has set about regulating the age at which girls shall marry in Turkestan. It has been customary for Mohammedan girls to marry between the ages of 10 and 12 years, but orders have been issued now that no Mohammedan shall marry under 14. The Tartar and Turcoman chiefs are much incensed, as all seek to obtain brides as young as possible. Russian officials report that 75 per cent of the girls who marry under 12 die before they are 20.

LESS POLITICS, MORE BUSINESS

The following non-partisan ticket was presented at the citizens' meeting held at the opera house, Saturday evening, March 14. While it was not endorsed by formal action, it was accepted by most hearty approval. It will be presented to both the republican and democratic primaries and there is every reason why it should be accepted by both parties and become in fact as well as name.

THE PEOPLE'S TICKET

Mayor—A. O. Wilson.
 Clerk—A. E. Badger.
 Sealer of Weights and Measures—Martin Dunn.
 School Commissioners, at Large—S. C. Burnham, First Ward, James Shearer, Third Ward, H. J. Cunningham, Fifth Ward, Paul Rudolph.
 Justice of the Peace—C. W. Reed.

Ward Tickets
 First Ward—J. W. Sale, alderman; W. F. Carle, supervisor.
 Second Ward—Henry Rogers, alderman; H. L. Skavem, supervisor.
 Third Ward—A. E. Matheson, alderman; J. L. Bear, supervisor.
 Fourth Ward—C. W. Schwartz, alderman; E. P. Grove, supervisor.
 Fifth Ward—E. J. Schmidley, alderman; E. Rathern, supervisor.

WHAT WILL THE PARTIES DO

A non-partisan ticket is presented to the people for endorsement. It is approved by prominent men of both political parties and tacitly endorsed at a mass meeting of citizens. It remains for the organized parties to take up the ticket, and place it in the field so that the people may have an opportunity to ratify it at the polls.

If they refuse to do this, the citizens if they so determine, may present the ticket by petition and ask for its endorsement. The Gazette is not authorized to speak for either party, but the paper has convictions on the subject that it does not hesitate to express.

If there is any good reason why politics should enter into city government, it has never been stated. In fact there is every reason why it should be barred. The taxpayers of a city are the men who make it possible to have a city, and in Janesville three-fourths of the voting population are taxpayers. It matters not whether they be large or small property holders, their interests are mutual. The most of these men belong to one or the other of the two great parties and it is both right and proper in state and national elections where principles are involved, that these men should be loyal to their respective parties. The man without a party is an orphan and a political outcast and his influence is seldom potent.

The man who prides himself on his independence, forsaking his party to vote for the best man, when party principles are involved soon gains the reputation of being a "holier than thou" citizen. Parties are necessary to the life and perpetuity of the government, and the independent voter usually shirks all responsibility and becomes a kicker.

These conditions, however, do not prevail in city government. The residents of a city have so many interests in common, that their relations are close and resemble in many ways the conditions of a large family.

The government of a city touches the individual more closely than the government of a state or nation. It is the one realm where good citizenship stands for everything, and where partisanship represents but little outside of personal ambition.

The city of Washington the seat of government, is governed by a board of three commissioners appointed by the president. It is the best governed city in the land today, because it is absolutely free from political intrigue and corruption.

The city of Baltimore, after a desperate struggle, has at last escaped from political tyranny, and the citizens are now in control. Other cities in various parts of the country are waking up to the fact that they are entitled to govern themselves, and but scant courtesy is shown to the office-seeking class.

Janesville is on the list, and the preliminary work of business reform has been accomplished by the municipal league. A ticket is submitted that stands for this class of reform, and there is no reason that will stand the test of argument, why every republican and every democrat in the city who believes in law and order, and a wholesome administration of city affairs, should not rally to a man in support of this ticket.

Opposition to it, whether organized or individual, means opposition to the interests of the city. While the ticket in its entirety may not satisfy every individual voter, it is well to remember that any ticket named would be subjected to more or less criticism.

Every man on the ticket is recognized as a good citizen, and the list is very largely composed of men who have never aspired to city office, if they consulted their own wishes today their names would not appear. They do not belong to the office-seeking class, but they are the kind of men that the citizens desire to have serve them.

The Gazette does not believe that either of the political parties as organizations will oppose the nomination of these men at the party primaries soon to be held.

There is no issue in the spring campaign but the law and order issue and the party or individual that opposes it assumes desperate chances.

There are only two sides to a question of this kind, one the right and the other the wrong side. Public sentiment is on the right side, and party sentiment cannot afford to array itself against it.

A REMARKABLE MEETING

The oldest inhabitant will fail to recall a meeting of citizens, similar in character and purpose to the one held at the opera house Saturday evening. The property of the city was liberally represented, and the sentiment expressed was as the voice of one man, and there was no uncertain sound as to the voice.

The platform was occupied by prominent men of both political parties and they were equally well represented in the audience. The meeting was destitute of sentiment and no effort was made to create enthusiasm by oratory. The taxpayers were assembled to discuss business, and a spirit of determination to reform business methods in municipal affairs pervaded the meeting, and commanded close and serious attention.

It was not a meeting of the municipal league, and while that organization was well represented, many citizens who are not identified with the movement were also in attendance.

It was a representative gathering, and its influence for good will be felt for years to come, because it marks the advent of an era that means more to the permanent welfare of the city than any that has occurred in its history. An era of common sense.

The way has been made possible for the taxpayers, and all other citizens who believe in good government to unite as citizens and say who shall administer the affairs of the city. It is an omen for good, and if appreciated, reforms of the most practical sort will follow.

When William Smith said the other night that there was only one side to the question, and the man who arrayed himself against it was on the wrong side, he expressed all there was to say on the subject.

Be a democrat when the interests of the party are at stake, and be a republican when the welfare of the party is threatened, but be a citizen when the welfare of the city hangs in the balance.

Loyalty to party is commendable under many conditions, but loyalty to good citizenship is a jewel that every man should be proud to wear when occasion demands.

Nominate and elect the ticket presented at the citizens meeting last Saturday night, and good government will result.

When the office seeks the man, it is a hopeful indication of reform.

The question of business reform is now up to the citizens.

Law and order is the only issue of the campaign.

The will of the people is supreme.

PRESS COMMENTS

Chicago Inter Ocean: News is at hand from Indiana that a coal dealer in that state has died of worry. What he was worrying about is not known.

Boston Globe: It seems that the new lord lieutenant of Ireland does not know whether to kiss the debutantes presented at the Dublin drawing rooms or not. Then he certainly doesn't deserve to be lord.

Chicago Record-Herald: King Edward of England has joined four clubs during the past year. Now if the queen doesn't believe him when he gets in late, it will simply show that she isn't willing to listen to reason.

Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin: A democrat who abandons his party because of its surrender of principle, isn't convincing the public that he is a sticker for sound principles when he joins the Socialists. In all such cases there will be a suspicion that principles are held second to imaginary chances of success at the polls.

IRISHMEN ARE REJOICING TODAY

GREEN RIBBONS, SHAMROCKS AND MANY BADGES SEEN.

A. O. H. PROCESSION AT NOON

Pleasing Entertainment Has Been Planned for This Evening, at the Myers Grand.

Bad weather today was no exception to what usually reaches here about the time the Irish celebrate in honor of St. Patrick, their patron saint. The gloomy weather, however, could not dampen the enthusiasm of the Celts for their patron saint and the program planned for the day was fully carried out. On all sides could be seen bits of green ribbon or fancy imitation shamrocks and several sported the real thing sent over by loving relatives in Ireland.

Many Badges
St. Patrick novelties of all kinds were on sale throughout the city and the small boy threw aside his newspaper to gather in numerous nickles from the sale of the different badges. Shamrocks, torps, small clay pipes, tied with green ribbons, and badges with St. Patrick's countenance upon them, were all in evidence. The people entered into the spirit of the day and all nationalities alike celebrated the day.

A. O. H. Program
The A. O. H. fully carried out the program laid out for the day. They met at 9 o'clock this morning at their hall on West Milwaukee street and headed by the Imperial band, marched in a body to St. Patrick's church where high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Mullen, who also delivered a sermon in which the many good traits of the patron saint were portrayed by him. A great many parishioners outside the A. O. H. were present at the service which was very impressive.

The Procession
After the services the A. O. H. headed by Chief Marshall James Ryan and the Imperial band made a parade which the route being on Cherry to Pleasant street, Pleasant to South Main, South Main to Milwaukee, and on Milwaukee to the hall in the Williams block.

This evening there will be an entertainment at the opera house at which time the following program will be presented:

GOOD SPEECHES ARE PROMISED TONIGHT

County Temperance Convention is in Session at the Y. M. C. A.—Banquet To Be Served.

Sons of temperance, and a sprinkling of daughters, from all corners of the county, are in meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building today. Although the sessions began at two o'clock this afternoon, the principal addresses are expected this evening.

Several subjects are to come before the meeting for consideration. One will be the establishment of a regular system of distributing temperance literature in all of the school districts of the county. Another will be the advisability of organizing a church federation in the city.

As six o'clock a banquet will be given in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. building. Mail orders have been received calling for forty plates and a considerable increase is expected through the arrival of late comers.

WIFE HEIR TO MANY MILLIONS

STORY OF THE CRONKITE FORTUNE IS RECALLED.

MR. JONES TALKS OF THE CASE

Says That the Old Hollander Left $80,000,000, But That the Government Lost It.

Griffith Jones of Good Thunder, Minnesota, is in the city visiting his brother, E. W. Jones, whom he has not seen since 1865. Mr. Jones' wife is one of the heirs of the famous Casper Cronkite estate which has almost caused international trouble between the seventy-three heirs of the old Dutchman and the kingdom of Holland.

In speaking of the estate Mr. Jones says: "Old Casper Cronkite and his two brothers, Jacob and Hiram, came to this country over a hundred years ago and settled in New York state. Casper became a fire of America and wanted to go back home. This Hiram and Jacob refused to do and Casper swore he would make a fortune and leave it so his brothers and their children would never receive a cent of it."

"Casper," he seems to have gone back to Holland and made his fortune. Just how much I do not know but I have been told it was eighty million dollars. Before he died he left a will in which he gave his property to the heirs of his brothers, but the will was not to be opened or the property divided until after one hundred years after his death.

Will Probated
"I believe the will was probated in 1899, after three years of litigation, and then it was found that while he had left the immense fortune and had deposited it with the government of his country, war had so changed the state of affairs, that the present government of Holland is not responsible for the claim and refuses to pay it."

More Litigation
"All the heirs held meetings some six years ago and decided to try and secure their share of the estate, but thus far they have accomplished nothing. Mr. Bates of Beloit, looked after my wife's interests and he is of the opinion that nothing can be done about it, as the French captured Holland and confiscated the money in the treasury and the Cronkite millions among them. The new government now say they are not responsible for the debts of the former government and there we are."

To Visit Relatives
Mr. Jones is on his way to Uden, N. Y., where he will visit a brother he has not seen for thirty-eight years and a sister whom he has not seen since New Year's night, 1850, when he left home and came west.

Street Commissioner Fredericks Will Secure Gravel From Northwestern Pit.

This street has been in wretched condition ever since last fall and any improvement that can be made on it will be fully appreciated by the public and especially by the fire department. It has been in such shape that the department has been obliged to slack up every time there has been an alarm where they have had to travel over the street.

EVILS OF THE CITY WERE DISCUSSED

KNIGHTS' CLASS HAVE MONTHLY SUPPER AND TALK.

ATTENDANCE WAS VERY LARGE

Topics Were Interesting, and the Class Had a Very Pleasant Evening.

In spite of the rainy weather close to half a hundred young men attended the monthly meeting of the Knights' class of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Long tables were set diagonally across the parlors of the church, loaded down with bounties, and before attacking the mental feast the young men, many of whom had come to the church direct from their day's labor, proceeded to discuss the vices before them, in a way that must have been gratifying to the ladies who provided the supper. During the supper hour violin and guitar music was furnished the delighted guests by Messrs. Leslie and Finley Williams.

Committee in Charge
In preparing for the meeting Leslie Williams, the leader, was assisted by a super committee consisting of H. E. Cary, L. L. Rider and W. Austin. The efforts of the committee were made more effective by the practical services of Messames Roberts and Frank Humphrey. For their kindness they received the hearty gratitude of the class.

Interesting Topics
In theme the discussion was inclined somewhat to sensationalism. In the treatment of the subject there was no tendency to make it startling. There was no striking exposure of sensational charges. The facts were handled in a frank, deliberative manner, and in general the speakers took a very hopeful view of the situation. Some of the topics touched on rather delicate ground, but so skillfully and yet plainly were they handled that the remarks were effective.

Temptations Here
A Man's Temptations in Jansville, and the Incentives Which Prompt Men to Wrong Doing, was the subject of the meeting. Among the sub-topics were the Saloons, treated by Charles Ward; Gambling, by W. I. Rothmel; the Social Evil by Dr. F. T. Richards; Sunday Pleasure Seeking by Rev. W. W. Warner; Means of Removing Incentives to Lead Men Astray, by M. H. Whitaker; and the Ballot Box as a Weapon Against These Temptations, by Charles Penny.

Freely Commented Upon
At the February meeting of the Knights' class the general discussion among the members present was perhaps the most valuable feature of the evening. Last evening's gathering was similar to the preceding meeting in that respect. At the close of each talk the comment was general and helpful, and again at the close of the program the entire subject was reviewed.

Special Orders
Particular attention will be given to special orders made to ones measure. We have had great success with special orders, considering the fact that the suit maker has to go by measures only, not being able to try the suits on to individuals.

GAIN FLESH

An Absolute Necessity in Many Cases.

A DECREASE IN WEIGHT FREQUENTLY INDICATES A DECLINE.

Our Modern Rebuilder, Vinol, Will Help You Do It.

THE WAY IT ACTS ON A DEPLETED CONSTITUTION IS SIMPLY MARVELOUS.

Are you getting thin? If you are you had better watch yourself. Take Vinol. It will build you up quickly and surely.

A healthy man does not vary much from year to year in his weight. This is as it should be. Vinol enables the organs of the body to renew flesh, muscle tissue, bone structure, and attends to purifying the great vital current of the human system, the blood.

Vinol contains the active curative properties of Cod-Liver Oil in a highly concentrated state, and is the most wonderful tonic that we have ever had anything to do with.

Vinol acts upon the stomach in a beneficial way, enabling it to obtain for itself the necessary ingredients from the food that is taken into it to build up the pure healthy body and increase the weight.

Mr. H. M. Stufell, who is a well-known passenger trainman on the Boston and Maine Railroad, suffered as many railroad men do, with kidney and other troubles. He writes as follows:

"My kidneys troubled me a great deal, my bowels were very irregular, I had great distress in my stomach, suffered with bilious headaches, had no appetite, could not sleep nights, and was losing flesh rapidly. I began to take Vinol, I am now on my third bottle, and it is doing wonders for me. My kidneys are better, my bowels are again regular, my stomach no longer troubles me, and no more headaches, and as for appetite, don't speak of it; I sleep like a top and have gained thirteen pounds. You can count on me always to recommend Vinol as the king of medicines."

With many such testimonials as the above coming before us, it is not strange that we endorse Vinol as strongly as we do. We unhesitatingly agree to return to any one who has taken Vinol and is not satisfied that it has accomplished all that we claim for it every cent that they have paid us for this remedy.
